

I have signed up to be on the no call list and I very anxious for it to take effect in January. When I come home from work there are 14 out of area calls on my phone every day. As soon as I arrive home the phone rings constantly until 9:00. These phone calls are very annoying and take up my valuable time. No matter how many times I say no they keep calling back. I have a friend who signed up earlier and she says her quality of life has improved greatly. Her phone rarely rings at night. The Indiana law is very imorportant and I do not wish to see a proposal that would diminish my privacy protection.
